The Beverly-Hills based company employs women wearing "chic and sexy" uniforms for car-parking services.

The casting call started at 2 p.m. Thursday at Belo nightclub and restaurant on Fourth Avenue. Participants expressed enthusiasm.

"I think it's great," one woman said. "Guys are able to make really good money, but for girls – it seems like they can make better money cocktailing and things like that – so I think it's great."

The San Diego Valet Girls office opens next Thursday.
